

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Did you get the memo?

Learning Outcome

Analyze issues relating to different topics and their solution in written and spoken situations according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What information do you think employers should include when talking about a new employee?
- What information should they not discuss? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can write about facts about events or actions in the workplace.
- I can write about hopes and expectations for the future in job related topics.
- I can write about my academic studies and my work in various time frames.

Let's Explore!

Check your e-mail. We have a new boss ...

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

August 24th

Dear Staff:

Thank you for recently welcoming Adam and Kristi into the company. In addition, Lincoln Green has accepted our offer of employment as Director of Advertising Design. We believe that his appointment will have a lasting impact.

Please join us on Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the conference room for appetizers and drinks. We hope that you will have organized your schedules by then so everyone can meet him. During the last 10 years, Lincoln has devoted himself to his work and education. From early on, Lincoln has had increasingly responsible roles in design layouts for high-quality magazine features, online publishing and social media sites.

Since June, Lincoln has been Director of Design for Fairjax Publishing, a global company with offices in London, Singapore and New York. He comes to us with a desire to drive our editorial vision, and provide a new engagement strategy.

His Bachelor's degree in Communication Design has provided a solid foundation for growth in the industry. Since then, he has also completed his MBA with a major in management. Recently, he has accepted a spot in the revered Master in Publishing program offered at Toronto University. Furthermore, he has been a full member of the Canadian Institute of Graphic Design with a COMD designation since 2009.

Lincoln will be leading our efforts in a number of areas. He will be performing professional work related to the overall management of design staff over the next ten months. From this point onward, he will also be acting as a liaison with the team to ensure that work is completed on time. Finally, he will be sharing his technical knowledge and personal experiences during monthly meetings that begin in two weeks.

It is our hope that the next phase in our reinvention will have finished before Christmas.

Also, we hope that Lincoln will have left a positive, lasting impression.

Thanks for joining me in welcoming Lincoln to the team.

Regards,

Denise Moore, CEO

Let's Practice!

Do you know anything about Lincoln's credentials?

Instructions: Read the initial sentence halves 1 to 7. Match them with the second halves below by writing the numbers in their corresponding place.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. We hope that you will have ... | a. _____ program yet. |
| 2. His bachelor's degree in communication's design has ... | b. _____ MBA with a major in management. |
| 3. Since then, he has also completed his ... | c. _____ provided a solid foundation for growth in the industry. |
| 4. Recently, he has accepted ... | d. _____ continue with their education. |
| 5. Furthermore, he has been a full ... | e. _____ member of the Canadian Institute of Graphic Design with a COMD designation since 2009. |
| 6. Boris has always wondered why some people do not ... | f. _____ organized your schedules by then so everyone can meet him. |
| 7. Kristi hasn't finished her graduate ... | g. _____ a spot in the revered Master in Publishing program offered at Toronto University. |

Let's Practice!

The company is expecting great things in the future.

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor. Rewrite the sentences correctly.

- impressive impact / his appointment / by the / We / had an / end of / the year. / believe that / will have
- Christmas. / in our / that the / next phase / finished before / our hope / It is / will have / reinvention
- organized / that you / We hope / will have / your schedules / by then / him. / can meet / so everyone
- the time / that Lincoln / the project / taught / finishes. / lot by / will have / I believe / us a
- He asks / starts / if Lincoln / before he / will have / finished his / new position. / this / other projects

Extension Activity

Did you hear about new changes?

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a 14-16 line dialogue between two staff members about a new employee who is starting in a couple days.
- Describe his education and previous work experience.
- Write facts about events or actions in the workplace.
- Read the dialogue aloud with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes
No

I write a dialogue about a new employee.

☐ ☐

I describe a person's academic and professional career.

☐ ☐

I read the dialogue aloud about workplace changes with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to devote (verb): to give all or a large part of one's time or resources to a person, activity, or cause
e.g. During the last 10 years, Lincoln has devoted himself to his work and education.
- revered (adjective): to have great respect for e.g. Recently, he has accepted a spot in the revered Master in Publishing program offered at Toronto University.
- designation (noun): a name or title that identifies someone or something e.g. He has been a full member of the Canadian Institute of Graphic Design with a COMD designation since 2009.
- phase (noun): a part or step in a process
e.g. Her life was about to enter its next phase of the nightmare.
- liaison (noun): a person who helps organizations or groups to work together and provide information to each other e.g. From this point onward, he will also be acting as a liaison with the team to ensure that work is completed on time.
- reinvention (noun): to present something in a different or new way
e.g. It is our hope that the next phase in our reinvention will have finished before Christmas.

Learning Points

Future Perfect for Predicting and Reporting Events

The Future Perfect is used to express an event that will have happened before another one in the future.

You often use the phrase by the time to refer to a time that will happen before another time in the future.

For example:

I believe that Lincoln will have taught us a lot by the time the project finishes.

The structure of the Future Perfect is:

Subject + will + have + past participle

We hope that Lincoln will have left a positive, lasting impression by the end of the project.

Examples:

- It is our hope that with Lincoln's assistance over the next couple months, the next phase in our reinvention will have finished before Christmas.
- Also, we hope that Lincoln will have left a positive, lasting impression by the end of the project.
- We hope that you will have organized your schedules by then so everyone can meet him.
- I believe that Lincoln will have taught us a lot by the time the project finishes.
- He asked if Lincoln will have finished his other projects before he starts this new position.

Learning Points

Future Continuous: An Action That Will be in Progress Some Time in the Future

There are many ways to talk about the future. You can use the Future Continuous to talk about an action that will be in progress at some time in the future.

For example:

Don't call too early because I will be putting the baby to sleep.

The structure subject + will + be + v-ing refers to an action that will be happening at a time in the future or during a period in the future.

For example:

We'll be working on this project until the end of 2020.

Look at some examples from the text:

Examples:

- Lincoln will be leading our efforts in a number of areas.
- He will be performing professional work related to the overall management of editorial staff over the next ten months.
- Finally, he will be sharing his technical knowledge and personal experiences during monthly meetings that begin in two weeks.
- From this point onward, he will also be acting as a liaison with the team to ensure that work is completed on time.

