

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

I'd like you to meet ...

Learning Outcome

Analyze issues relating to different topics and their solution in written and spoken situations according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like meeting new colleagues at work? Why or why not?
- What might people be worried about when they meet new colleagues? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can request or report about facts about events or actions in the workplace.
- I can discuss hopes and expectations for the future in job related topics.
- I can talk about my work responsibilities.

Let's Explore!

Mr. Brody introduces Adam and Kristi to some people in the office. However, the freelancers aren't there.

* A "freelancer" is a person who works by freelance (on their own, without a contract).

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Boris: Did you enjoy your lunch?

Adam: Yes. Your Workplace Health Program is very effective. Everything was healthy and delicious!

Boris: Ever since we started that program, people have been congratulating the kitchen staff. Now we'll do a little walk-about to meet some of your co-workers.

Kristi: Great! I would love to meet our new colleagues.

Boris: Let's start with the content team. Many of our authors are freelancers. They will be working from home for the rest of the week. We do have full-time journalists who have been working on different projects. In the future, they will be doing research for a large volume such as a dictionary. This is Janice Truman.

Janice: Hello. Welcome to Books for People.

Adam: Pleased to meet you, Ms. Truman. I'm Adam and this is Kristi.

Kristi: Hi!

Janice: You have both graduated in communications, right?

Kristi: Yes, that's right. We met while we were taking a class in journalism.

Janice: Excellent. You will be tackling your own writing projects in no time.

Adam: Great! We have been hoping to have that opportunity.

Boris: We can go in this room as soon as the marketing staff has finished their meeting. We have been marketing our products in a variety of ways. For example, Julian here will have soon finished a project promoting our books to educational institutions directly.

Julian: Hi.

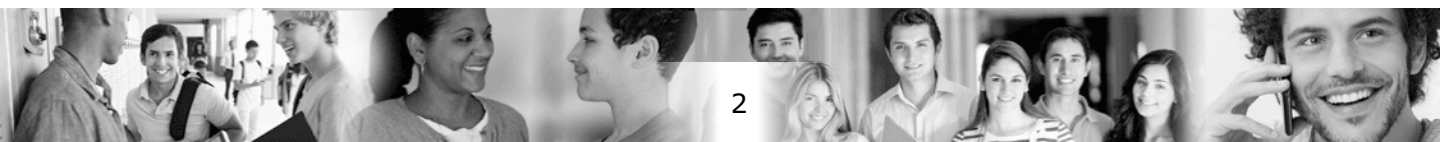

Kristi: Hello!

Boris: Some people in this department have specialized in online marketing. Others have been working in more traditional channels. We noticed a significant increase in sales as soon as the subway ad campaign started.

Adam: It's a natural connection. People like to read on the subway.

Boris: Our in-house illustrators and graphic designers work here. It's very a hip office, as you can see from the art on the wall. You will be spending a lot of time with them.

Kristi: I'm looking forward to it!

Let's Practice!

Adam and Kristi are making a great first impression!

Instructions: Read the dialogue on page 2 again. Select the correct answer according to the reading.

1. Adam thought the food was ...
 - effective and healthy.
 - healthy and delicious.
 - expensive and delicious.
 - inexpensive and healthy.
2. Mr. Brody couldn't introduce everyone because ...
 - freelancers work from home.
 - not everybody was there.
 - there are no full-time journalists.
 - the marketing team is busy.
3. BFP has been marketing their books ...
 - directly to schools.
 - in the subway.
 - online.
 - all of the above.
4. Janice told Adam and Kristi ...
 - they will be working full-time journalists.
 - they will be writing their own materials.
 - they will be marketing to schools.
 - they will share an office space.
5. Adam and Kristi explained that they ...
 - have graduated in business.
 - have graduated in journalism.
 - have graduated in communications.
 - have not graduated.

Let's Practice!

Mr. Brody has been a good boss ever since* he started working at BFP Publishing.

*"Ever since" introduces the start of a period of time, whereas "as soon as" shows something happens immediately after the time another thing happens.

Instructions: Write the correct word from the options to complete the sentences.

1	2	3	4	5
while	while	while	while	while
ever since	ever since	ever since	ever since	ever since as soon as	as soon as	as soon as	as soon as	as soon as

1. _____ we started that program, people have been congratulating the kitchen staff.
2. We met _____ we were taking a class in journalism.
3. We noticed a significant increase in sales _____ the subway ad campaign started.
4. Would you like to meet some new colleagues _____ they are in the office?
5. We can go in this room _____ the marketing staff has finished their meeting.

Extension Activity

Introduce new “colleagues” from a picture of a group of people.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Find a picture of a group of people from your personal collection of photos or from the Internet.
- Choose an area of work, like an office, a health clinic, a school, etc.
- Your partner is a new colleague. Image you are introducing him or her to each person in the photograph. Invent a name for each person and talk about his or her responsibilities at work.
- Say something about how the new colleague will work with each person.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I discuss areas of work.

☐
☐

I introduce a new colleague to co-workers.

☐
☐

I talk about roles and responsibilities at work.

☐
☐

Target Words

- to congratulate (verb): to compliment a person or group for doing good work
e.g. Ever since we started that program, people have been congratulating the kitchen staff.
- to market (verb): to promote a product or service
e.g. We have been marketing our products in a variety of ways.
- volume (noun): a large book, like a dictionary
e.g. In the future, they will be doing research for a large volume such as a dictionary.
- educational institution (noun): a school, college, university or other learning center e.g. Julian will have soon finished a project promoting our books to educational institutions directly.
- to specialize (verb): to concentrate your work or learning in one specific area
e.g. Some people in this department have specialized in online marketing.

Learning Points

The Present Perfect Continuous Tense

The Present Perfect Continuous is used to talk about actions that started in the past and have continued up until the present and the duration of those events is presented.

Example:

I've been calling you for an hour!

The Present Perfect Continuous is also used when an action has been performed repeatedly or has been in progress.

Example:

I have been reading this book and I think it is quite interesting.

Examples:

- We have been hoping to have the opportunity to write articles.
- We have been marketing our products in a variety of ways.
- Other people have been working in more traditional channels.

The Future Perfect Continuous Tense

The Future Perfect Continuous is used to talk about an action that started before a certain time in the future, and will continue up (action in progress) until that point in the future.

It refers to events or actions in progress in a time between now and some future time. It is most often used with a time expression.

Like other continuous tenses, the Future Perfect Continuous tense shows that an action or event continues.

For example:

You will have been waiting for almost an hour when the plane finally arrives.

Jason will have been teaching at the university for more than a year by the time he leaves for Europe.

The structure of the Future Perfect Continuous tense is:

subject + will + have + been + v-ing

Examples:

- Julian will have soon finished a project promoting our books to educational institutions.
- You will have written your own article in no time.

