

Instructor: ..... Date: .....

Learner: ..... Regional Branch: .....

Program: ..... Center: .....

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Are you ready for your new responsibilities?

Learning Outcome

Analyze issues relating to different topics and their solution in written and spoken situations according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What are your responsibilities at work?
- What are the responsibilities of other people you work with?
- Would you like to have more responsibilities? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can request or report about facts about events or actions in the workplace.
- I can discuss hopes and expectations for the future in job related topics.
- I can talk about my work responsibilities.

Let's Explore!

Adam and Kristi talk about their morning at BFP Publishing. The company seems well-organized***!

* When you put two-word adjectives before a noun, you use a hyphen: It is a "well-organized" company.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Adam: Ouff! We've made it to lunchtime!
- Kristi: We've received a lot of information since we started this morning! By the end of the day, we will have met almost everybody in the office.
- Adam: Yeah, tell me about it. The company seems very well organized.
- Kristi: Absolutely. Can we go over our new responsibilities? Ms. Moore talked about that briefly.
- Adam: I think we will be doing more editing and revision work than original writing. At least, that's true while we are under probation.
- Kristi: I think you're right. Ever since we met Ms. Moore, I've had the same impression.
- Adam: We think we will be proofreading texts while we check for the accuracy of factual information. As soon as illustrations are needed, I expect we will be researching for images, or making arrangements with photographers or illustrators.
- Kristi: Then there's the aspect of project management. That seems interesting, too. I've learned to organize the steps and calculate expenditures of a project in the courses I took. They said we would be liaising with authors, marketing staff, designers and printers at each stage of the process. I hope we will be learning more about how to deal with copyright issues, like researching titles to make sure they have not been used already.
- Adam: Ms. Moore mentioned something about commissioning articles and recruiting authors. Have you been listening to everything she said?
- Kristi: Not really. We'll have to ask. I hope we will be given the chance to propose some of our original writing.
- Adam: Mr. Brody has also been very interested in my ideas for new books and articles every time I spoke to him. I have a lot of ideas to share as soon as we have settled in to our new roles.

Let's Practice!

Adam and Kristi talk about how things are connected in time.

Instructions: Read the sentences and underline all the words that introduce a time clause.

1. We will be doing editing and revision work while we are under probation.
2. Ever since we met Ms. Moore, I've had the same impression.
3. I have a lot of ideas to share as soon as we have settled into our new roles.
4. We will be proofreading texts while we check for the accuracy of factual information.
5. As soon as illustrations are needed, we will be researching for images.

Let's Practice!

Is it clear what Ms Moore said?

Instructions: Complete the sentences with options from the Word Bank. Use capital letters where necessary.

Word Bank

have you been listening / talked about that / seems very well organized / mentioned something about / can we go over / they said we would

1. The company _____.
2. _____ our new responsibilities?
3. Ms. Moore _____ briefly.
4. _____ be liaising with authors, marketing staff, designers and printers at each stage of the process.
5. _____ to everything she said?
6. Ms. Moore _____ commissioning articles and recruiting authors.

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue explaining someone's role at work.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- You are a manager. You need to explain the role of a new employee. Write a dialogue of 12 - 15 lines.
- Use the Future Continuous tense ( for example: You will be researching ...)
- The new employee asks questions related to his or her work.
- Answer the employee's questions.
- Practice your dialogue with a partner.
- Change roles.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I explain a new employee's role using the Future Continuous tense.

☐ ☐

I ask questions related to work.

☐ ☐

I answer questions related to work.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- probation (noun): a period of time after an employee starts while he or she is supervised closely e.g. At least, that's true while we are under probation.
- factual (adjective): pertaining to facts or real information
e.g. We think we will be proofreading texts and check for the accuracy of factual information for books or specialized magazines.
- illustrator (noun): an artist who creates illustrations, drawings or other images for a publication
e.g. When illustrations are needed, I expect we will be researching for images, or making arrangements with photographers or illustrators.
- expenditure (noun): costs; things you need to spend money on e.g. I've learned to organize the steps and calculate expenditures of a project in the courses I took.
- project management (noun): organizing the work of different people contributing to a large project
e.g. Then there's the aspect of project management. That seems interesting, too.

Learning Points

The Present Perfect Tense with Past Tenses

You can use the Present Perfect tense to:

1. talk about states or events that started in the past and continue to now. You can refer to these events with the words since or ever since.

For example:

*She's been better behaved since she had that warning.
Ever since I met you, I've felt so much better about things.*

2. describe repeated or long-term feelings or thoughts about past events.

For example:

*I've often wondered why they decided to promote Rhonda.
I've always felt we did the right when we hired her.*

Examples:

- Ever since we met Ms. Moore, I've had the same impression.
- Mr. Brody has also been very interested in my ideas for new books and articles every time to spoke to him.
- I've learned to organize the steps and calculate expenditures of a project in the courses I took.

Learning Points

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses

You can use a variety of tenses to talk about the future. Let's compare the Future Continuous and Future Perfect tenses.

Look at the chart for an outline of the meanings/uses and the form of the Future Continuous and Future Perfect tenses.

| Tense                    | Meaning/Use                                                                              | Example                                                                                                                       |
|--------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Future Continuous | to talk about an event or action in progress at some time in the future           | We will be proofreading texts and checking for the accuracy of factual information for books or specialized magazines. |
| Future Continuous | to talk about an event or action in progress during a period in the future        | I think we will be doing more editing and revision work than original writing.                                         |
| Future Perfect    | to talk about an event that will be finished before a specific time in the future | By the end of the day, we will have met almost everybody.                                                              |

Examples:

- I hope we will be learning more about how to deal with copyright issues.
- When illustrations are needed, we will be researching for images, or making arrangements with photographers or illustrators.

